He was our big mouth
- he'd always have an
answer for everything,
except for why he should still be here.

He was the last
off-site everyday,
then one night,
he left us way
too early.

He was the joker.
The one who made
everyone on-site cry with laughter and then one morning, we just cried.

He was such a polite lad, it
didn't make sense
when he left without saying goodbye.
